- Text to Change (TTC) sets up mobile phone-based programs for multiple organizations in Africa and South America
- TTC uses mobile phone technology to send out and receive information to educate, engage, and empower people on wellbeing related issues
- We combine the vast growth in mobile technology with the need for improved healthcare, innovative education, economic development and transparency
- TTC creates innovative mobile technology based concepts and specializes in interactive and incentive based text message programs
- We work hard to make life saving knowledge easily available to community and family level caregivers and the general public
- Sustainability and scalability are integrated in the implementation of our public private partnership projects (PPPs)
